Smith in Lead of Race as McAdoo's Votes Melt Under Ferocious Attack of Coalition; Son of President Dies Late Last Evening

Californian Loses One-Third Veto Power as He Reaches Lowest Mark of Convention at 333.5 on 87th Ballot, with Smith's Total Standing at 361.5—Conference Held in Office of Thomas Taggart.

Ralston's Total Growing

Indiana Senator and Carter Glass Gain — Session Adjourns on Learning of Death of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., with Smith Forces Apparently at Crest of Wave.

Madison Square Garden, July 7. — Charging down on the McAdoo lines with a new ferocity the coalition forces in the Democratic national convention tonight swept the McAdoo votes down to their lowest point.

Governor Smith, for the first time, took the lead over Mr. McAdoo and reduced his opponent to a point where he had lost his power of a one-third veto over the selection of a candidate.

Then, when the coalition forces were riding on the crest of the wave, they got an adjournment of the convention until tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The convention actually adjourned as a mark of sympathy and respect for President and Mrs. Coolidge at the death of their son, but before the word of the President's son's death was received, the managers of the coalition forces had planned the adjournment at high water mark.

The smashing attack on the McAdoo lines was accompanied with raids for Ralston and for Glass. The attackers took back the trophies for each.

Taggart Denies Rumor.

Between adjournment this afternoon and reassembling time tonight a conference was held in the office of Thomas Taggart, the Indiana leader and sponsor for Senator Ralston. Mr. Taggart denied its purpose was to discuss a move to center on Senator Ralston but a majority of those present favored concentrating on the Indiana candidate.

Out of this conference and various movements under the surface the Ralston boom emerged once more from the temporary eclipse of last week. At the same time in another sector of the anti-McAdoo forces plans were being made to give "a run" to Senator Glass of Virginia who had gathered considerable strength during the afternoon session.

Before the day session closed, the drive on McAdoo had succeeded in forcing his vote down to 418, while the Smith lines were holding around their high water mark.

Frankly, the McAdoo managers said they expected a raid at tonight's session with the objective of driving McAdoo's votes below Smith's but they added they were confident McAdoo had an "irreductible minimum" of delegate strength which would still leave him a veto power over any other candidate.

Indiana Goes Back to Ralston.

As the hot and tired delegates filed into the hall they discovered a new source of discouragement. A Hawaiian quartet was in place with ukeleles ready to sing. It was broiling hot in the Madison Square Garden. But the brass band apparently didn't mind. It blew itself clear through the overture from William Tell.

At 8:43 o'clock, eastern daylight time, Chairman Walsh began rapping for order. The Rev. E. L. Powell of Louisville, Ky., led in prayer.

The Hawaiian quartet sang "A Fond Farewell" and the clerk went back to calling the roll. It wasn't indicated whose delegates the fond farewell applied to.

The first slide of the evening was Indiana going back to Senator Ralston. Her 30 had been going 20 to McAdoo and 10 to Smith. In addition to that Florida then threw in 20 to Ralston and gave 10 to Smith. The vote had hitherto been scattered.

Nevada Gives Smith Six Votes.

[illegible] stepped in with the 20 she had given Ralston during the day and that made Ralston's total so far 74 votes. Missouri, however, stayed with Carter Glass for her 36.

Nevada's whole six went solid for Smith. They had been held under the unit rule for McAdoo.

Launching a night attack on the McAdoo lines, the Smith forces and their co-belligerents hammered McAdoo's ballot to a new low record—the lowest point it has touched since the opening of the convention.

At the same time the maneuver raised Senator Ralston to a new position.

At the end of the 84th ballot the leaders stood:

McAdoo 388.5; Smith 365; Ralston 86; Glass 72.5; Davis 66.

This was a loss of 29.5 for McAdoo; a loss of three for Smith; a gain of 62 for Ralston; a loss of 6.5 for Davis, and a loss of 3.5 for Glass.

Further inroads were made on the McAdoo strength during the 85th ballot, reducing it to a new low record. On that ballot, the leaders stood:

McAdoo 380.5; Smith 363; Ralston 87; Davis 68; Glass 67.5.

This was a loss of eight for McAdoo and two for Smith. It was a gain of one for Ralston and a gain of two for Davis. It was a loss of five for Glass.

Iowa Deserts McAdoo.

There having been no decision on the 85th ballot, the clerk went again at the interminable job of calling the roll. This time he was on the 86th lap, the only calling clerk in the world who ever called an 86th roll call in a Democratic convention.

On this ballot Iowa deserted the McAdoo column and went to Edward T. Meredith, her favored son. Unless McAdoo gained from states yet to come, he was about to lose his one-third veto power.

During the 86th ballot Nevada, which had switched from McAdoo to Smith, switched to Governor Ritchie of Maryland.

Smith passed McAdoo in the same ballot.

In a whirlwind attack on the McAdoo lines the Smith forces and the anti-McAdoo coalition crashed down blocks of McAdoo votes on succeeding ballots until McAdoo, who started the convention with a lead of almost 200 over the New York governor, was running behind him. Besides that McAdoo has lost his one-third veto over the convention.

The summary of the 86th ballot follows: Smith 360; McAdoo 353.5; Ralston 92; Glass 72.5; Davis 65.

The result showed a loss of 27 for McAdoo, of three for Smith; 2.5 for Davis, and gains of five each for Ralston and Glass.

Jones Submits Resolution.

On the 87th ballot the coalition forces battered down the McAdoo strength still further and the contest stood this way:

Smith 361.5; McAdoo 333.5; Ralston 93; Glass 71; Davis 66.5.

This was a loss of 20 for McAdoo and a loss of 1.5 for Glass. It was a gain of 1.5 for Smith, a gain of 1.5 for Davis, and a gain of one for Ralston.

Just before adjournment, Senator A. A. Jones of New Mexico, under unanimous consent, introduced a resolution which he asked to have laid on the table until tomorrow, providing for a conference of the delegates, comparable to the conferences of the representatives of the candidates Sunday.

It proposed that each delegation appoint one member to attend such a conference with the same representation in voting power as his delegation has in the convention. Senator Jones said it would be possible for the committee to consider combinations of tickets and probably make recommendations for the nominations for president and vice president.

At the conclusion of Senator Jones' statement, Charles Walsh announced to the convention the death of Calvin Coolidge, Jr. [illegible] pression of sympathy and regret swept the floor and galleries as Chairman Walsh suggested an adjournment of the convention as a mark of respect and sympathy. The convention adjourned until 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in the greatest quiet and the most perfect order of any time it has been in session.

The night session of the convention had opened with advance announcements of a raid on the McAdoo forces but there was no indication of how far they would go. If the McAdoo managers had any idea that their column of votes was going to be smashed to the extent that it was, they concealed the fact, but afterward professed not to be discouraged.

Plans Soon Become Apparent.

The word had gone out that the coalition forces were going to give "a ride" in convention parlance to Senator Glass of Virginia and that Thomas Taggart of Indiana and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi were arranging for a run for Senator Ralston.

No sooner had the night balloting started than evidence of the plans became clear. When the [illegible] on adjourned, McAdoo had been called for [illegible] votes, compared with the place he occupied when the last ballot was taken Saturday, and he was standing 196.5 votes lower than his high water mark on the 69th ballot. He was exactly 97 votes below his first ballot in the convention two weeks ago.

Governor Smith throughout the whole day's operation held his place with little deviation. On the last ballot Saturday he had 367 votes, and on the last ballot tonight he had 361.5. Neither represented the high water mark which the governor reached again today on the 82nd ballot with 368, which was two more than he needed to maintain a one-third veto.

As the balloting closed tonight Governor Smith was short of the veto power but he had driven his opponent from his point of advantage and passed him on the [illegible].

SOCIALISTS ENLIST UNDER LA FOLLETTE

Convention Adopts Report Recommending Approval of Progressive Platform

(By the Associated Press)

Cleveland, July 7. — The national convention of the Socialist party of America tonight formally enlisted under the LaFollette presidential banner. It adopted a report offered by a majority of a committee of 15 recommending that the convention concur in the action of the conference in progressive platform action, in endorsing the LaFollette candidacy on his platform.

The vote on this report was 106 to 17.

The action came after a six-hour debate in which 32 of the 137 delegates in the convention took part. It was conducted under strict rules, each side being given 15 minutes to start and finish the discussion and miscellaneous delegates being allowed five minutes each. Two exceptions were made to this, Alex Cohn, editor of a Jewish newspaper, and Daniel Hoan, mayor of Milwaukee, being given double time.

Eight of the speakers argued for a minority report which would have resulted in a separate Socialist national ticket and platform, and three spoke for a substitute which would have accepted the majority idea with reservations as to the vice presidency.

By adopting the majority report the convention concurred not only in LaFollette's endorsement, but also in last week's conference decision to postpone a vice presidential nomination until after the Democratic convention. It also pledged itself to cooperate with the conference in the national election and in such state and local elections as may be endorsed by the smaller units of the Socialist party.

[illegible] representation on the national committee of the conference, agreed to send full representation to the new party organization convention next January and instruct its delegates to work for the formation of a complete new party based upon a platform containing as a minimum the planks adopted by the conference of July 5.

HINES AND VETERAN IN FISTIC AFFRAY

Latter Disgruntled at Rating—Fighting Occurred When Demands Were Refused

Washington, July 7. — Brigadier General Hines, director of the Veterans bureau, was involved in a fistic encounter with a former serviceman in his office at the bureau today, suffering a deep gash over the left eye and bruises which required medical attention.

According to witnesses, the veteran who engaged in the affair was Thomas B. Deaver of Houston, Tex., who had called to protest that a medical examination made at San Antonio had injured his claim before the bureau. Deaver left immediately after the affray and officials said no charges would be filed against him.

When Deaver protested to General Hines against the report of three physicians who had examined him, it was said, the director called in Captain C. O. Shaw, chairman of the board of appeals, and the three were going over the case when the encounter developed.

According to bureau officials the director offered Deaver a new examination or hospitalization but the latter declined unless the examination was made in the director's office. This, General Hine was said to have declined to acede to.

13,000 MEN MARCHING ON RIO DE JANERIO, REPORTED

(By the Associated Press)

Buenos Aires, July 7. — An army of 13,000 men, composed of Sao Paulo state forces, together with some federal troops, are marching toward Rio de Janeiro, according to reports gathered by a correspondent of La Nacion, who has returned to the Argentine border after a trip into southern [illegible].

In general, the news from Brazil concerning the Sao Paulo insurrection continues vague and conflicting, but sufficient has been learned to leave little doubt that the movement is of a formidable character politically and is aimed at the federal government.

NO MOTIVE FOUND.

Lake Placid, July 7. — State Troopers and county authorities after 24 hours investigation tonight had failed to establish a motive for the murder of Jesse Crowninshield and George Martin, woodsmen, both of whom were slain Friday on the wooded trail to White Face mountain. The theory was advanced tonight by the investigators that Martin was shot to death while going to the aid of his friend. Motives of robbery have been discarded.

MAINE VILLAGE DOOMED BY FIRE

Fighters Give Up Struggle in Face of Strong Wind to Save Marsardis

Portland, Me., July 7. — The village of Marsardis, 16 miles from Ashland, in the northeastern corner of Maine, was said to be doomed to destruction tonight by a forest fire which has been sweeping toward the village since Sunday morning. With the fire driven by a high wind, out of control and spreading, the crew of several hundred fire fighters had abandoned the struggle and were tonight fleeing for their lives before the flames. Reports received here by telephone said it was feared that the fire would reach the settlement before night.

While the men of the little town, which numbers a population of 1,500, were working in a last effort to check the fire before it reached the village, the women and children were reported to be leaving the town, taking with them such of their possessions as they could carry.

The settlement consists of approximately 300 buildings and several lumber mills. The fire is but one of the several now raging in the Aroostook county woods.

140 INSPECTORS TO BE APPOINTED

Will Enforce Motor Vehicle Law—Physical Impossibility to Examine All Drivers

Albany, July 7. — Plans for the [illegible] of motor vehicle inspectors whose duty shall be to enforce the recently enacted motor vehicle law, were announced here today by Charles A. Hartnett, motor vehicle commissioner. Tentative plans provide for a force of 140 men, with 46 operating below the Bronx county line and the others on duty throughout the state.

A new organization is also planned to care for records to be kept of each motor car operator. In addition to the Albany office, it is expected to open branches in New York city, Rochester and Buffalo and possibly in Syracuse and Utica.

Mr. Hartnett said today he expected provisions of the new law, with the exception of that requiring the examination and licensing of operators, would be in effect by July 15. The problem now confronting the commissioner is means of examining the 1,500,000 motorists who will seek the licenses, and it was believed it would be a physical impossibility to give each motorist a test similar to that which applicants for chauffeurs' licenses must pass. It was suggested the effective date of this provision of this law might be put over until December 1.

Washington, July 7. — Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of the President, died tonight at Walter Reed hospital of blood poisoning.

The end came after the boy had battled with utmost bravery and fortitude for five days against a disease which had racked his body with pain and sapped the reserve strength of his frail constitution.

A sinking spell, the fourth he had suffered in 24 hours, brought death. Notwithstanding the use of oxygen and other restoratives, the courage which had withstood crisis after crisis and had beaten death off repeatedly, was unable to meet the final attack. The collapse began at 6:30 o'clock.

Every resource of medical science was brought into play in the vain effort to save young Calvin's life. An operation was performed on the left leg Saturday night to drain off the poison and blood transfusions and oxygen was resorted to in the later days of his illness.

The natural strength of a boy of 16, however, which was counted on as the most powerful resisting force to the creeping poison, was unable to meet the issue, and after having fought a brave but always losing fight, he succumbed.

One of the final complications and the one which the physicians were unable to meet was the formation of gas on the stomach. The organ was washed out repeatedly in an effort to put it in condition to retain nourishment, but the effort was unsuccessful.

Young Calvin was removed to the hospital Saturday and an operation on the same night revealed inflammation of the bone marrow of the left leg, where the infection first localised in part. A slight rally followed, but on Sunday night his condition grew so serious that blood transfusion and oxygen administration were resorted to.

President and Mrs. Coolidge, who had maintained constant vigil at the hospital, were at his bedside, hopeful, and cheering and comforting their son to the last.

Three sinking spells Sunday night brought him to the point of death. A slight rally Monday gave slight hope, but soon thereafter he began to lose ground and he never rallied again.

The infection developed from a broken blister on the right foot sustained during a tennis match with his brother, John, on the White House courts last Monday. At first, paying no attention to it, the youth developed an alarming condition by Wednesday night and physicians were summoned.

Calvin Coolidge, Jr.

The poison, however, once started, spread so rapidly that medical skill was without avail. A number of specialists were called to act with White House physicians on the case and a desperate fight for life was made by the boy, who struggled in great pain and with high fever.

President and Mrs. Coolidge bore up bravely. Soon after the death they went to the White House, where the oldest brother, John, was awaiting them.

The spark of life, flickering only faintly, still persisted, ready to be extinguished at any minute, but the will to live was very strong and death was held off when those at the bedside had long abandoned hope.

E. T. Clark, the President's personal secretary, emerging from the sick room at [illegible] o'clock, told those waiting outside that the patient was sinking but that his stamina was resisting at every backward step.

Neither President Coolidge nor Mrs. Coolidge came out and the physicians remained to administer to the suffering boy's last minutes.

Groups Gather at Hospital.

The White House, where a wall had been kept busy while the presidential [illegible] removed to Walter Reed hospital, ceased to function for the time, and Secretary Slemp and others rushed to the hospital. In other parts of the city, where the illness of the boy had gripped public interest to the exclusion of almost everything else, there were serious inquiries as to his condition and expressions of sympathy for the parents.

At the hospital groups gathered awaiting word outside the grounds, but inside the sentries moved their usual way and there were no visible signs that anything out of the ordinary was taking place. Hundreds of war veterans are housed there and sympathy was marked on every hand. Silence was the order for all in the building.

Announcement that death had finally relieved the sufferings of the frail boy was made by Mr. Clark. He walked slowly from the room and those who were gathered there knew from his demeanor that the end had come. Only the brief announcement of death was made and soon thereafter, President and Mrs. Coolidge, grief stricken over their first great sorrow, made their way slowly to a White House automobile and were driven away. Both were worn from the long vigil. They arrived at the White House at 11 o'clock.

Was in State of Coma.

Leaving their automobile, they walked slowly into the executive mansion, the President and I. K. Hoover, head usher at the White House, on either side of Mrs. Coolidge and holding her arms. The President walked erect, but Mrs. Coolidge with head bowed.

As they left the hospital, Mrs. Coolidge had leaned heavily upon her husband's arm and both were visibly affected. Proceeding toward the city they were joined by Secretary Slemp in another automobile, who upon arriving at the White House, went directly to the executive offices.

Th parents had been with the boy unceasingly since the final collapse and all through the ordeal of the administration of oxygen in the desperate effort somehow to win the losing fight. For some time before the end, however, the patient had been in a state of coma.

WAS TYPICAL AMERICAN SCHOOL BOY IN 'TEENS

Washington, July 7. — Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was a typical American boy, mischievous and full of vigor but in public quiet and demure. He was always the first with a hearty laugh, however, at the slightest provocation.

"He has a remarkably sweet disposition for a boy," a close friend of the family remarked recently, "but make no mind about it, he's all boy."

Calvin was born April 13, 1908, at Northampton, Mass., and went through the grade schools of that city and entered the high school, completing the first year after his father had come to Washington in 1921. Both he and his brother, John, who is 17 years of age, the next year entered Mercersburg academy at Mercersburg, Pa., John being graduated last month, while Calvin had

WOULD QUASH INDICTMENTS.

Cleveland, July 7. — A motion to quash federal indictments charging 47 malleable iron manufacturers and companies with restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was heard today by Federal Judge D. C. Westenhaver.

Indictments were returned in March after a special investigation by Assistant United States Attorney General Roger Shale and Russell Hardy of Washington, and United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen. The indictments charged the defendants with combining and conspiring to fix prices and allot contracts. At the conclusion of the argument, Judge Westenhaver reserved his decision until a later date.

Catcher, Philadelphia Athletics: Heralded by many as the best catcher in either league.

In a case like this the catcher always calls the play even though he may not field it himself. He is in a better position to look things over than any of the other players. Who fields the ball and makes the throw depends on how it rolls. A dead bunt right in front of the plate may go to either catcher or pitcher, depending on how far it rolls. The catcher will often take bunts going down the first base lines, too. Sometimes the baseman gets a bunt and throws to the pitcher—who should be covering first base. Very often it is the third baseman who handles these difficult batted balls and he must handle them speedily.

WIN FROM TANNERSVILLE

Although Outhit Oneonta Giants Take Interesting Game From Strong Mountaineer Team, 7 to 1, by Bunching Bingles.

Although securing 12 hits off Walsh and presenting in the person of Dietzen a twirler with a world of stuff on the ball, as is evidenced by the fact that he caused seven Oneonta batters to fan the breezes, Tannersville could get but one run at Neahwa park yesterday and could not prevent the Giants from securing seven. Oneonta got nine hits but they were nearly all made when bingles meant tallies. In every inning but one in which Oneonta got a runner on the paths one or more runs were scored.

The Giants started the tally making in the first frame. With two down Faye walked, stole second and came in on Eckstein's single to left garden. Harner pasted one to right a moment later and both advanced a bag when the fielder let the hit get by him. Eck and Dutch were left on the paths when Wilson fanned.

Tannersville tied the count in the second, also with two down. McCarthy singled to center and Ebert put one in the same place, the pill rolling to the fence for a triple and McCarthy scoring. In nearly every inning thereafter Tannersville threatened but did not have the punch to put a run across the rubber.

In Oneonta's half of the second two more counters were added. Two were out again when the fun started. Walsh leaned against the horsehide for a base hit to right and Wilcox walked. Tommy had a lame hoof and Manager Thomas substituted Boylan for him. Both men scored on Fitch's vicious double to left. Fitch was left on second when Faye whiffed.

Another score was added in the fourth to Oneonta's growing total. Thomas, first up, was given a pass. Sinny doubled and Thomas scored and Sinny took third when the right fielder again made a misplay. Walsh and Boylan fanned and Fitch flied out to left, leaving Sinstack stranded.

The last scores of the contest were made in the eighth, Oneonta amassing three in that canto. With Eckstein away Harner slammed the ball for a double to center. Wilson singled through short and Dutch scored, Wilson taking second on the throw in. Thomas walked again. Sinstack got his second hit of the game, sending Wilson home for a tally. Thomas got to third and Sinny reached second on the ineffectual play to get Wilson at the plate. Thomas scored on Walsh's infield out, Sinny getting to third. Boylan flied to Foley, ending the inning.

Did You Know That—?

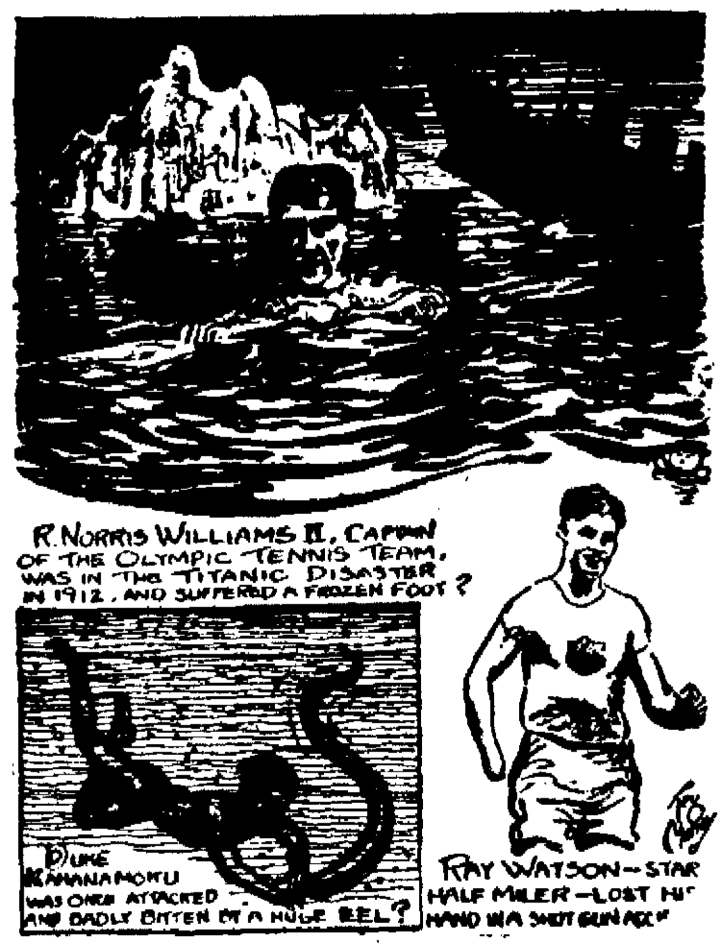
By Feg Murray



R. NORRIS WILLIAMS II, CAPTAIN OF THE OLYMPIC TENNIS TEAM, WAS IN THE TITANIC DISASTER IN 1912, AND SUFFERED A FROZEN FOOT?
DUKE KAHANAMOKU WAS ONCE ATTACKED AND BADLY BITTEN BY A HUGE EEL?
RAY WATSON—STAR HALF MILER—LOST HIS HAND IN A SHOTGUN ACC'T?

Dick Williams, captain of the United States Olympic tennis team that goes into action next week in Paris, was aboard the ill-fated Titanic when she crashed into an iceberg on the night of April 14, 1912? One of his feet was frozen as a result of being in the water for some time before he was picked up. Fifteen hundred people perished, but Williams was saved, luckily, to become one of the finest figures in all international tennis.

Duke Kahanamoku, whose name has been synonymous with swimming records for thirteen years, nearly met his end in 1912 as a result of a fierce struggle with a giant eel in the waters of the Pacific near Honolulu? He was under the water over two minutes and almost lost the index finger of his right hand in the battle with the sea monster.

Ray Watson, national A. A. U. half mile champion and member of the Olympic in the 800 metres run, had his right hand shot off in a shotgun accident many years ago? Ray is not only one of the best runners on the American team, but one of the most popular as well.

SON OF PRESIDENT DIES FROM BLOOD POISONING

another year before him. John is to enter Amherst, the President's alma mater, this fall and Calvin was to have followed him.

Kept Right on at Work.

An excellent student, usually ranking high in his class, Calvin was bright and studious but not a "crammer" in the school boy's sense of studiousness. He also was a good debater and had qualified for the academy debating team. He was interested in athletics but his slight build kept him from making any records along that line, although he was an enthusiastic tennis and baseball player.

Summer vacations usually found Calvin with his brother John at their grandfather's home at Plymouth, Vt., but last summer John attended the military training camp at Camp Devens, Mass., while Calvin worked on a farm in the Connecticut valley of Massachusetts. It was when at this work after his father had become president, his employer said to him excitedly, "so your father is President of the United States, now," and the boy replied:

"Yes, sir, I suppose he is. What do you want me to tackle today."

He had taken employment under contract and refused to break it to come to Washington in the interesting days of his father's assumption of the chief magistracy, preferring to complete the task to which he had set himself.

This summer vacation, however, the boys came to the White House, but had planned to leave in a few days to attend the military training camp at Camp Devens.

Brought Up as Others.

As the sons of the President, John and Calvin had felt responsibility, but to a casual observer they would have appeared as any other American boys and this was the ideal for which their parents carefully trained them. It was the wish of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge that the boys be considered from an unofficial standpoint and as any other boys. For this reason they did not permit official bulletins to be issued by the physicians on the condition of Calvin and not until last Thursday when his case had taken a really serious turn did they make known his illness.

A frequent visitor to the White House has told how the President was quite often given to joshing the boys, but Calvin caught a joke usually in the making and sidetracked it with a laugh, finally leading the President to remark to the visitor it was no use trying his fun there.

The President, however, believed that the boys should be brought up in the good American way. A friend at the White House remarked recently that the boys show no signs of "swelled headedness" to which another friend replied, "No, and they hadn't better."

Funeral Arrangements Incomplete.

Washington, July 7. — No funeral arrangements have yet been made for Calvin Coolidge, Jr. Some friends of the family were inclined to the belief that burial would be at Northampton, Mass., the Coolidge home, while others thought that perhaps Arlington would be the place. At any rate, it was said, funeral services would be conducted with the utmost simplicity at the White House, in a way that would obtain in any American family which had lost a son.

Well Done, John!

It is announced by an Associated Press dispatch that the commander of the British gunboat Cockchafer, lying in the Yangtze river, off the town of Wanhsien, forced the Chinese authorities to attend the funeral of Edwin S. Hawley, the American killed by [illegible]. The commander told the authorities that unless they put on uniform and walked to the cemetery behind the coffin, the town would be bombarded. An action like this may not please the pacifists, but others will be pleased by it. It was [illegible] says more than many pronouncements. Moreover, it has good precedents.—Boston Transcript.

Deadly Scale Killing Guam Coconut Palms

Agana, Guam.—United States marines, under the command of Capt. William W. Aiken, who is chief of police of this island, are leading parties of natives in a concerted attack on a most pernicious enemy. The enemy is "aspidiotus destructor," a scale insect pest, recently discovered to be destroying coconut palms, banana trees, alligator pear trees and taro.

More than 9,000 trees were found infected in widely separated localities all over the island. The insects are so small they barely are visible. They attack trees by sucking the sap, causing the foliage to turn a mottled yellow at first, and in the last stages to assume the appearance of having been scorched by fire.

The scale is one of the most destructive known. It recently wiped out the coconut industry of the island of Saipan, 120 miles from Guam.

VOTE ON ONE PROPOSITION.

No Amendment Will be Submitted to Voters This Fall.

There will be no proposed amendments to the state constitution submitted to the voters this coming fall. One proposition will be voted on, this providing for a $15,000,000 bond issue for the extension and improvement of existing state parks as well as the establishment of a unified state park system. No members to the court of appeals will be elected this fall, nor to the United States senate.

In addition to the seven elective state officials, including the governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, comptroller, treasurer, attorney general, and state engineer and surveyor, there will be elected this fall 43 congressmen, 51 senators and 150 assemblymen, as well as four supreme court justices.

Following the flurry incidental to the spring primary, and conventions, politics wil again hold sway from July first on, this being the first day on which petitions can be signed, petitions being filed as late as August 19. Secretary of State Hamilton, in a political calendar being distributed, furnishes the dates of all political events from July 1 up to November 4, when the general election will be held.

Fifty Per Cent Honest.

But, frankly, the platform is just bout 50 per cent honest. That is a relatively high percentage in these days when principles are persistently subordinated to vote-catching.

The Democratic senators who, aided by William Jennings Bryan, dictated the platform could not resist the temptation to go gunning for votes by playing one section of the country against the other.

The League of Nations plank is pure hypocrisy. It really means, when analyzed, that the present Democratic party is through with the League of Nations as an issue. The platform might have well said so instead of presenting a wholly insincere plea for a referendum. No such referendum can or will be put through even by a Democratic Congress.—Boston Post, Dem.

GEARLESS WONDER.

Jewett With High and Reverse Gears Only Runs Thousands of Miles.

With only two gears, a high and reverse a Jewett six has been driven 7,205 miles, according to a report received by C. H. Bennett, agent in this section, from R. C. Stowell, wholesale manager of the Paige-Ohio company of Toledo.

Stowell told Mr. Bennett that he first started driving the Jewett with the first and second gears filed off on December 7, 1923. The transmission was sealed by a Toledo newspaper man, according to Stowell, and the newspaper man has inspected it weekly to see that it has not been tampered with. The local speedometer service station sealed the speedometer and made affidavit to the effect that it could not be opened or changed in any way without breaking it. While the car did not plough through the winter snow and spring mud as readily as it would have with all the gears in the transmission, never once did it get into a place where it could not get out on its own power.

The car is known all over northwestern Ohio as "The Gearless Wonder." It is being watched by every Jewett dealer and many competitive dealers. They are all wondering when new clutch facings will be needed. The cylinder head and oil base have not been off since the test run was started.

Motor trips, horse back riding, golf at the Stamford Country club, teas, dances and card parties will be among the amusements. Stamford is about 1,700 feet above sea level and at the foot of Mt. Utsayantha, which rises to nearly 4,000 feet.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Read How Mrs. Walsh Was Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mannington, West Virginia.—"I took the Vegetable Compound when having the turn of life. I had been sick for seven years. I would get a little better, then I broke down again. It would be hard for me to describe how I was, for I was a perfect wreck. I suffered with a pain in my left side, then I would have numb spells and I would think I couldn't live. I would have hot flashes, then would come weak spells. I was so weak I would think I couldn't ever get a meal ready. My work was a burden to me. I was not able to do my housework half of the time. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has given me strength and health. The hot flashes left me and I got better of the numb spells. That summer I could do my housework and worked in the garden a good bit. I tell all sick women what your wonderful medicine did for me, and will always recommend it. I was born in Marion County and still live in it. I am known to all my neighbors, and you can publish this statement because it is true."—Mrs. John W. Walsh, R. No. 1, Box 25, Mannington, West Virginia.

Corn meal, graham, and coarse wheat meal not only offer a pleasant variety for breakfast foods, but they are cheap and healthful.

Aunt Ada's axioms: Those who are discontended with home should remember that the pleasantest place to live is in the hearts of others.

An old Spanish proverb says that "Hurry is the devil." Keeping serene will go a long way toward preventing fatigue, and will make it possible to accomplish more than could be done "on the run."

Your posture while working has a vital effect upon health. Valuable hints are found in Bulletin H-138, "Saving Strength in the Household," which will be sent on request from the State college at Ithaca.

A pair of scissors hung in a convenient place in the kitchen saves time. Use them for shredding lettuce, for cutting dates or other fruits, and chicken and other meats for salads, and for removing the rind from bacon.

Disappointed in the window draperies? It might have been avoided if a large sample had been hung in the window. The color effect is often quite different when the light shines through the material; it may make black look gray and dingy, and give green tone to materials with blue and yellow threads.

RADIO BEAMS.

For Shakespeare's "How far this little candle throws its beams" we may substitute, "How far this radio station throws its waves." The Marconi device which concentrates radio waves like the beams of a searchlight has worked so well that the Marconi company announces it will build no more high-power stations.

Broadcasting stations in the last year or two have been using, in some cases, thousands of kilowatts. Commercial stations have done likewise. The whole tendency seemed to be toward greater and greater power. Now Mr. Marconi plans to equip all his stations for less than 25 kilowatts. That will give a short-wave, high-speed service connecting with far distant points more surely than the old, high-power system, and will be far less expensive.

From the fact that the Marconi system is directional, and can be received only by an outfit directly in the wave-beam, it must remain primarily commercial. For broadcasting, the old system may continue. But in its limited field, the Marconi system should provide a very efficient and flexible means of communicating at low cost, to supplement the ordinary telegraph, cable and long-distance telephone.

PROMPT AIR MAIL

The express air mail from coast to coast, started July 1, has been working surprisingly well. It is seldom more than a few minutes late on the long trip, in either direction. Sometimes it is a few minutes early. It may equal the promptness record of the air mail over shorter routes operated in previous years, which surpassed the record of the railroad mail trains.

It is not altogether surprising that airplanes should meet their schedules better than railroad trains. There may be greater hazards in the air, but also there is less petty interference.

When a railroad express is late, it is usually because somebody other than the engineer or conductor on that train has blundered. The air pilot depends for success mainly on himself. Nobody is likely to get in his way. There is no wreckage on his track. And there is a spirit among the aviators themselves that is found in no other transportation group—a professional pride in overcoming big obstacles and taking [illegible]

The Cure for Diluted Christianity

Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today and forever.—Hebrews 13:8.

The greatest weakness of much of our present-day Christianity is its diluted character.

Instead of being a passionate personal devotion, it is a washy philosophical attitude.

In place of the expectancy of good, we put stoical endurance.

Instead of personal loyalty, we substitute unwilling resignation to God's will.

Instead of active service, some of us cherish the cultivation of doubt, and others the observance of meaningless ritual.

Of course, we don't admit this so plainly to ourselves.

Human nature with all its love of truth is terribly prone to self-deception.

Nevertheless, it is a fact.

And nothing can be more full of peril than diluted Christianity.

History teaches us that Islam, the only widespread religion arising in the Christian era, was helped to birth by the stagnant atmosphere of corrupted Christianity.

The lesson is obvious. It is being retaught today by the same inexorable teacher.

What is the meaning of the rise of a hundred cults with their enthusiastic following?

Is Christianity insufficient for man's needs?

No.

But our diluted Christianity is utterly inadequate.

And it is natural for men to turn away disgusted from it.

Their mistake is not in leaving diluted Christianity, but in turning to ephemeral fancies and fly-by-night leaders instead of to the eternal verities and the unchangeable Christ.

THINGS WORTH READING

Steering Immigration.

It was announced several weeks ago in shipping circles that the falling off in third-class transportation, due to the new immigration law, which went into effect yesterday, would induce some of the trans-atlantic steamship lines to fit up their steerage accommodations a little more elaborately and make a bid for cheap tourist trade. But now there comes new development—or the prospect of it. Shipping companies serving the South American route report that their vessels sailing from Europe to Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires and Pernambuco are carrying increased numbers of emigrant passengers.—Philadelphia Record.

America's Greatness.

In 1950 the population of the United States will be 200,000,000. By 2,000 it will be 500,000,000.

These figures are based on the National Bureau of Economic Research estimate that the present population of this country is 113,000,000, an increase of 7,000,000 since 1920. The gain in population during the last half of 1923 is reported as 1,162,000, the greatest in any six months of the last two decades.

If this rate of population increase is maintained, the population of the country will be 200,000,000 within the span of life of a majority of people living today.—Washington Observer.

The Tourist Season.

Throughout the country hundreds of towns, big and little, along the main automobile highways are vying with one another to attract tourists by providing them with camping grounds equipped with all modern conveniences pertinent thereto. The touring season which has just opened promises a more extensive use of these camps than ever.—Anaconda Standard.

Jazz Jazzes Out.

A score or more of American jazz bands that took possession of the scene in Paris and a number of French famed resorts have been ordered by the national ministry of labor to move on and lose no time in going out of France. A case for diplomatic protest; a matter to be raised in congress, something to spread-eagle over? It is not likely. The French government has not overstepped its authority.—Rocky Mountain News.

Endurance.

"As long as thine art shall love true love,
As long as thy science truth shall know,
As long as thine eagle harms no dove,
As long as thy law by law shall grow,
As long as thy God is God above,
Thy brother man below,
So long, dear land of all my love,
Thy name shall shine, thy fame shall grow."—Sidney Lanier.

Warming Up.

Bryan is always running for President and LaFollette is always going to run. As the sports writers have it, LaFollette spends most of his time warming up without going on the mound.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Can't Deny His Words.

There is one thing about transmitting speeches by radio. If the speaker later gets a hard drubbing for something he has said, he can not alibi by declaring he was misquoted.—[illegible] City Times.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE SUMMER DIET.

When the hot days come along, one after another, you are often quite concerned about your own and your family's diet.

Now this is the proper thing of course, because after all, the most important thing you do in life is to eat, whether you care to admit it or not.

There has been some comment on the fact that the "baby doctor" of the present generation, seems to think that all he needs to know is how to feed the baby.

And yet a moment's thought and you'll admit that baby's ills are practically nothing if he is eating well, and if he is not eating well it is a serious business indeed.

And so when you think of the hot weather and the appropriate food or foods to eat, you are only using a good deal of real common sense. You can only live by the food you eat.

And the big suggestion I want to make is that you need food in the hot weather even as in the cold weather.

[illegible] matters in many cases. You could quite easily cut down your winter food supply by twenty-five percent in the hot weather.

This one suggestion is all that is necessary if your work is the same all the year around.

The bulk of the food eaten is to maintain the heat of the body, which is really life itself.

In the hot weather somewhat less heat is needed because there is not as much lost to the surrounding warm air.

But if you want to be a little more "correct" on diet for the hot weather there is this to remember, that the fats should be cut down. The amount of meat may be cut down unless, as I stated before, you get out in your garden and do some physical work, play golf, or go in for some form of athletics. Any work of a physical kind demands meat or eggs, or if you don't care to eat meat, then peas and beans must be eaten, as they are rich in proteids which the tissue needs for repair. One of the little points to watch with the youngsters, and also with yourself, is the tendency to do without any food at mealtimes when the weather is very hot. This is a mistake.

Food is absolutely necessary to keep up your strength to withstand the heat.

A wise plan is to eat a little less during the hottest part of the day.

The habit of eating four very light meals, instead of three meals of the regular size, has been of help frequently.

A RETURN ENGAGEMENT

TWENTY AND THIRTY YEARS AGO

Days of Old Recalled by Items Clipped from The Star Files.

July 8, 1904.

Albert L. Hitchcock, E. Lynn Fisher and Howard Mattoon left Wednesday for Otsego lake, where they will camp for two weeks in the Dugway across the lake from Five Mile Point.

A party of Oneontans will spend a week later in the month camping at Arnold's lake, occupying Three Oaks cottage. The following compose the party, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Carr, Mrs. E. A. Collar and daughter, Laura, and son, Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peck, Mrs. A. H. Levenknight and son, Augustus.

Six years ago yesterday the regiment of which Company G formed a part left Governor's Island for San Francisco, whence it went to Honolulu to engage in garrison duty during the Spanish-American war. The regiment had been ordered to Manila to form part of General Merritt's army, but later orders sent it to Honolulu

Local union, No. 163, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, installed the following officers last evening: President, O. J. Johnson; vice president, F. A. Austin; recording secretary, A. J. Perrine; financial secretary, William M. Gardner; treasurer, H. G. Kinney. Although the local union is comparatively a young organization, it has already accomplished much for the benefit of the painters about town, nearly all of whom are now members.

July 8, 1894.

At the Normal yesterday two 3,800 pound stones were put in place at either end of the tablet bearing the inscription, "State Normal School."

W. H. Ives and C. Parshall made good time on their wheels yesterday in coming from Cooperstown. They made the entire distance in one hour and thirty-two minutes.

At the special meeting of the Lewis Hose company last evening, John Johnston and W. W. McMinn were elected delegates to represent the company at the county convention to be held here August 8 and 9.

Titus lake, near Davenport, supposed to have an average depth of about 30 feet, was found on recent examination to average about nine feet and the water on test proved to be 80 degrees at midday. The feasibility of stocking it with trout was at once settled by these facts.

KAYSERS CLOSE AT OWEGO.

Shipping Machinery Away and Will Sell Building.

Owego, July 7. — This village suffered a severe loss when the factory of the Julius Kayser Glove and Silk company announced its intention last week to discontinue it and to ship the machinery to Brooklyn and other branch plants and sell the factory building in Church street.

The plant has been established 2[illegible] years and in all that time this factory is the only one in the Kayser chain that has not staged a strike. From 100 to 150 women and girls are employed at the plant.

Executive Secretary Roscoe G. Geller of Owego chamber of commerce and a former president of the chamber, Arthur B. Stiles, went to headquarters this week to ascertain if the order is irrevocable, and were given to understand the closing is not due to anything that Owego or Owegoans could control or remedy.

Representing Blunden School.

Miss Eunice E. Knowles, president, Mrs. Gertrude Snell Brown, a teacher, and Miss Mattie Hughey, the latter a graduate of the Blunden School for Colored People at Baton Rouge, La., arrived in Oneonta yesterday and with this city for headquarters will canvass this community and surrounding towns in the interests of the above-named institution.

The Blunden school is well known in this vicinity, which representatives have often visited, Mrs Brown being a native of Schoharie county, and two of the teachers, Mr. and Mrs Silliman residing in Hobart. During their stay here, Cooperstown and Hartwick among other towns will be canvassed.

REFUSES TO SUPPORT WIFE

Harry Gibson of this City in Children's Court is Willing to Provide for Child But Not for Wife.

A case quite unusual in the Otsego County Children's court was heard by Judge Welch in this city on Saturday when Harry Gibson, who was brought before the court on a charge of non-support stated that he was glad to pay a sufficient sum for the maintenance of his five year old son, but stated that he felt he had sufficient reasons for refusing to support his wife, who resides at 13 Jackson avenue. While no decision was rendered in the case, Judge Welch heard the evidence and pending his decision directed that $5.00 per week be paid for the support of the child.

There were a number of witnesses sworn by Mr. Gibson to support his claim that the conduct of his wife gave him grounds for refusing to provide for her care, including Raymond Church, Leon Blanchard and Mrs. Benjamin Krothe who told of incidents occurring while the Gibson residence was at 5 Linden avenue, next door to the Krothe home.

Mrs Krothe told of seeing from one to three cars parked in front of the Gibson house while their occupants were inside until 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. Everett B. Holmes, who appeared for Mrs. Gibson, advanced the theory that the men might have been brothers or relatives of Mrs. Gibson and no evidence to the contrary could be produced by Donald H. Grant, who appeared for Mr. Gibson. Mr. Holmes also stated that Mrs. Grace Mott, a relative of Mrs. Gibson, was living with her at the time and might have also been in the house on the occasions related by Mrs. Krothe.

Other Children's Court Matters.

Judge Welch also had before him the matter of a boy of 13 years, charged with petit larceny, whom he adjudged a juvenile delinquent and placed under parole for a year with instructions to report to Miss Blake every two weeks.

The other case was of a divorced mother with three children who applied to the court for some means of securing assistance in the support of the children.

LOCAL MENTION

—The weekly baby clinic will be held at the community house this afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock. Dr. House will be the attending physician.

—The lights of the city were out for a few minutes early this morning while the power for the city was being cut over to the Colliers plant by the New York State Gas & Electric corporation.

—The sale of Chautauqua tickets continues gratifyingly large and indications are that the sale will be completed before the opening date. They are on sale at The Star office, where any who have not been solicited may be supplied.

—The attendance at the ball game yesterday was very disappointing. The city is being given the best possible quality of ball and the strongest teams available are being brought to the city for the entertainment of fans. While no one can anticipate the action of the directors, it certainly is not the way to assure a team for another year to accord poor patronage to such a team as now represents the city. Money is needed to defray the expenses of the team this season and all of the funds raised in advance should not be expended before the month of August arrives.

BREWER AVENUE ACCEPTED.

Thoroughfare Near Normal Now a City Street.

Brewer avenue was accepted as a city street by the Board of Public Works at its regular meeting last evening. Residents of this thoroughfare had been trying for some time to secure acceptance of the avenue but the Board had not thought it wise to meet their desires until certain improvements had been made. The improvements were reported last evening to have been made and acceptance quickly followed.

Most of the time of the meeting was taken up with a discussion of problems involved in the paving of Chestnut street extension and the resurfacing of Main street. City Attorney Huntington was present and a conference was held as to methods of making legal and binding all transactions with the McDonald Construction company on both jobs.

PLAYGROUND SCHEDULE

Supervision at East End School Beginning Today—Adult Evenings to be Held at River Street School.

Beginning this morning the playground at the East End school will be open with supervision, with a regular schedule there on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, and Wednesday and Friday afternoons. This change necessitates changes in the schedule at the Academy Street, Chestnut Street, and River Street school grounds, a summary of which will be found below: At Academy street, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings; at River street every morning and every afternoon with the exception of Wednesday; and at Chestnut street every afternoon with the exception of Friday.

This new program provides for more supervised play time at each ground, and extends the benefits to East End.

Beginning next Wednesday evening a program for adults will be given each week from 6 until 7:30 o'clock including playground, ball, relay races, and games of varied sorts. All interested in the proposition are urged to plan to attend the first session so that an idea of the popularity of the plan may be secured.

Only a few teams have thus far been entered for the twilight baseball league and at least three more are needed to fill out the schedule. The games will be played at Neahwa park and a full measure of exercise and fun is assured. Teams should be entered at once, and a list of members of the team should also be filed, either with Mr. Risedorph at 11 Church street or with Secretary MacEwan of the Chamber of Commerce.

All who are in the city this summer are eligible for the tennis tournaments which are to start on July 16 and a large number of entries is desired. Entrance, consisting of name, age, residence, and telephone number must be filed with Mr. Risedorph at 11 Church street or with Miss Sarah Miller or Miss Marjorie Dann before July 15.

The courts of the city are now in excellent shape and a very good tournament can be conducted if all those interested in the game, whether experts or beginners, will just file their entrances as a start.

CONVENTION BULLETINS

Being Displayed at Star Office Received with Clar-a-dyne Made by Crouch, Wilson & Co.

Oneonta is keeping pretty close track of the Democratic National convention by radio and none are getting the returns more accurately than Roland Hill, the radio expert, who built when the industry was new and few receiving sets were in use in the city, one that enabled him to secure most of the stations on the continent. Mr. Hill has taken every ballot at The Star office and it has been posted promptly and the thousands who have read The Star bulletins have had the latest and most accurate bulletins on the convention. While other places in the city have had sets in operation with loud speakers attached, none have been more accurate than those posted at this office.

The bulletins will continue to be on display at The Star office windows so long as they are being sent out by radio, or at least so long as there continues to be manifested any interest in the doings in the big Garden at the metropolis.

The instrument in use at this office during the convention has been Clar-a-dyne, manufactured by Crouch, Wilson & company of this city and it has proven its merit by the continuous use during the convention. Roland Hill, the operator in charge here, is the son of Frank M. Hill, advertising manager of The Star.

OFFERING STRONG PROGRAM.

How It Appears to One Main Street Business Man.

"The Chautauqua program this year looks to me like the best one we have yet had," said a Main street business man yesterday as he made his bid for some season tickets.

Many will agree, if they make a study of the program. It is good from start to finish. There does not appear to be a weak number—and it has gone big in towns where it has been since the opening the middle of last month.

There is no record as yet of the number of tickets sold, but reports will soon be tabulated. Only 750 of the $2.25 season tickets can be sold and all that are out will be called in when the maximum is approximated.

Chautauqua is now less than two weeks off and those who have not arranged for tickets should not delay.

Distribution of Bonus Blanks.

Oneonta post of the American legion will hold a special meeting at the Municipal building this evening for the purpose of distributing federal bonus blanks and to assist in filing out these blanks. The meeting is open to all ex-service men regardless of whether they are members of the Legion or not. Friends of men who died in service, or who have died since the war are also invited to attend the meeting and instructions will also be given them in regard to filing applications for dependents. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock and Company G band will be on hand to liven things up. All ex-service men and dependents who are eligible for the federal bonus should attend this meeting.

CHILDREN ARRIVE WEDNESDAY

One Hundred and Thirty-Five Kiddies From Tenement Districts of New York to Have Two Weeks of Real Life.

The 135 kiddies from the tenement districts of New York who are to be the guests of good people hereabouts for the next two weeks will arrive in the city late Wednesday afternoon and preparations for their reception are being made by Oneonta Rotary club, which has handled all the local arrangements for the visit of the children.

The children will arrive at 5 o'clock over the Ulster and Delaware railroad. Arrangements have been made with the railroad company whereby the train which normally ends its run at Arkville will run through to Oneonta as a special with the kiddies. A goodly number of Rotarians will meet the train at Stamford or possibly at some point farther down the line and accompany the children at Oneonta, doing enroute the necessary work of furnishing its child with a tag bearing its name and address and the name and address of its host. The children will also be arranged in groups so that the teams of Rotarians taking the children to the homes of the hosts can easily locate their charges when the children alight from the train.

Rotarian A. E. Risedorph will be ready with scales and measuring rod and each child will be weighed and its height taken upon arrival. Similar information will be secured before the children leave for home.

It is expected that there will be a large crowd at the station to see the children arrive and arrangements have been made to rope off a space so that the confusion which so hindered the work of the Rotarians in other years will be obviated.

MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. BAND.

Instruments Given Out to Thirty Boys—Private Lessons to Begin This Week.

At the second meeting of the newly organized Boy's band of the Y. M. C. A., which was held last evening at 7 o'clock, instruments were given out to about thirty members and a schedule for private lessons made out by the leader, C. R. Holmes. Mr. Holmes will not only direct the band but will give one half-hour lesson each week to every band member with the exception of the few boys who are not beginners.

Tickets were also given out last night for the movie benefit. Each band member is to sell these tickets for the picture, "Lights Out," which will be presented on July 24 at the Oneonta theatre, the object being to assist in paying for that part of the instruments and music which the Y. M. C. A. has furnished. Several members of the band will give solos during the performance but it is estimated that the band as a whole will not be ready for public appearance before about twelve months.

Births.

HOME FROM GOODYEARS

Troop Three of Girl Scouts Spend Pleasant and Profitable Week.

Troop Three of the Oneonta Girl Scouts under the leadership of Miss Barbara F. Goodwin have just returned from Slater's camp, Colliersville, Goodyear lake, where through the courtesy of Mr. Slater, they have spent a very instructive, as well as enjoyable week of camp life. The scouts have used tents for sleeping quarters, and have had many opportunities because of the stormy weather to learn the difficulties of keeping their tents intact during the rain and wind. Under the direction of Mrs W. B. Bruce of Binghamton, a member of the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps, all of the scouts have learned to swim. Mrs. Bruce has also taught the prone pressure method of resuscitation, the Red Cross methods of breaking strangle holds, and the life saving carries.

Miss Johnson, District Field Supervisor of the Red Cross, has given instructions in first aid and bandaging. The work of the camp has been done entirely by the girls, who have worked in shifts according to a prearranged program. A stated program of camp life has been followed with meals, inspection of tents, and swimming periods at definite hours. All of these activities are part of regular scout work. Surely an organization which combines so many worth while things should have the support of the community in which they form an active part.

COLONIALS OF KINGSTON.

Coming to Oneonta Wednesday and Thursday to Battle With Giants.

The fast Colonials of Kingston, champions of the Hudson valley, are to be here for two games with the Oneonta team, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. While the record for the season stands Oneonta 3, Kingston 1, the visitors are one of the fastest teams that visit this city and will endeavor to even up matters this week.

The games will be called, as announced yesterday, at 4 o'clock in order that the evening meal in the homes of the fans be not delayed. The locals are putting up gilt edged ball and if ever a team representing this city deserved hearty and generous support, the team of '24 certainly does.

The locals meet the Tannersville team at Stamford this afternoon at 3 o'clock but Manager Thomas is arranging to have his strongest possible line up in readiness for the games on Wednesday and Thursday. Let the attendance be such as will warrant the management in continuing to book games throughout the remainder of the season.

Slight Auto Accident Yesterday.

As Rev. G. M. Case of Unadilla was entering Oneonta en route to Cooperstown yesterday afternoon with five young lads whom he had promised a picnic at the latter place he encountered a slight mishap when the brakes on a car driven by Dr. Reinhard of this city failed to hold, resulting in a collision at the corner of Chestnut and Academy streets. No one was injured and only a slight amount of damage was done to the car belonging to Mr. Case.

First Woman Governor

Here is Mrs. Soledad Chacon, first woman ever to serve as acting governor of any state in the Union, at the chief executive's desk in the governor's offices in the capitol at Santa Fe. Owing to the death of Lieut. Gov. Jose A. Baca, the gubernatorial mantle fell upon the shoulders of Mrs. Chacon, secretary of state, when Governor James F. Hinkle crossed the state line en route to the Democratic National Convention in New York.

CLINTON D. BARRAGAR KILLED

Well Known Resident of Oneonta Believed to Have Been Killed by D. & H. Train Near Thompson, Pa., Sunday Night.

While no word of absolute identification has yet geen received in this city, it is thought that Clinton D. Barragar, well known resident of Oneonta, was killed by a D. & H. train near Thompson, Pa., on Sunday evening. Mrs. Barragar made an effort to get into communication with the authorities at Thompson yesterday but found that the man believed to have been her husband had been buried at the direction of the D. & H. company.

The only information received in Oneonta concerning the accident is the following telegram received yesterday by Chief Horton of the police department from H. H. Wallace at Thompson:

"Man about 40 years old with dark brown hair, blue eyes, nearly six feet tall, heavily built, with cancelled checks payable to B. V. Jewell drawn on the Citizens' National bank, bearing date as far back as 1920, and signed by C. D. Barragar, was found dead on track of D. & H. near here last night. D. & H. officials authorized undertaker to bury body and to advise friends if available."

The description is one fitting to Mr. Barragar and in view of the checks and of the fact that Mr. Barragar was visiting at the home of his father, Silas F. Barragar at Clifford Pa., about 25 miles from Thompson, little question is felt in this city as to the identification of the body.

The Star was unable to secure further particulars of the accident yesterday. Naturally Mrs. Barragar was considerably saddened yesterday and she will have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends in her bereavement.

Clinton D. Barragar was born at Equinunk, Pa., in 1878, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Barragar. About 17 years ago he came to Oneonta and worked in the local shops of the D. & H. company until about seven years ago when he entered the trucking business in this city.

In October of 1914 he was united in marriage with Janette Gardner of this city, and for many years they lived at 85 Ford avenue, a property which was sold last fall, they moving to 16 Columbia street.

Surviving Mr. Barragar besides the wife and father mentioned, are one son, Earl Barragar, an employe of the Oneonta Dairy company, living at 53 Main street, one daughter, Mrs. Bessie Haveland of Scranton, one grandchild, and two brothers, Charles Barragar of Fort Allegheney, Pa., and Fred Barragar of Olean.

According to the understanding of Mrs. Barragar, burial has already been made at Thompson.

THE NEAR EAST RELIEF

Over $1,700 in Cash and Pledges Secured — Canvass Continued—Letter from Dr. Flynn.

"The Near East Relief executive committee thanks all chairmen and workers for the splendid promises of support and for the cash and pledges sent in in the last week." This is the message brought to Frank M. Gurney, chairman of the Near East Relief committee of Oneonta, by Miss Dorothy Meadows of New York. Miss Meadows was in New York last week when some of the workers brought in their reports and she, too, feels that we have a right to believe that the great tragedy of turning adrift thousands of children now in the orphanages has been averted. But $700 was sent in by Robert Hall, Oneonta treasurer, but the secretary, Miss Ethel Beach, has over $1,000 in pledges so at present more than 25 children are assured safety and care through the efforts of the Oneonta committee. Oneonta was asked to care for 50 children and now that the great national holiday is over the chairman hopes all the committee will begin actively canvassing the names they already have been given and make returns as quickly as possible.

The Near East Relief appeal has the endorsement of all church men and women. Dr. John W. Flynn writes to Miss Meadows:

"I cannot call your effort for the Armenians 'another appeal,' or 'more talk about the Armenians.' I sympathize with the work of the Near East Relief committee first because it is largely among children. For years now we Americans have kept alive these thousands of children and we must do it now. I hope we are eager to do it. Second, I am interested in your appeal because it is in behalf of a people who for generations have been unjustly dealt with and persecuted. I hate injustice, should not like its being practiced against me and I regret that among the so-called Christian nations of the world their is not enough positive power to put an end to its being practiced against Armenia. Third, I am glad to support your work because the people for whom you plead are in their present state primarily because they are Christians and not Mohammedans. No Christian people in all history have been so persistently persecuted as these and their refusal to give up their faith won my admirations many years ago. I cannot help admiring the moral staunchness of a people whose faith is their very life. God bless the Armenians and the Near East Relief that seeks to serve them in a time of their need."

John W. Flynn

Berton Weber Recovering Nicely.

The details of an automobile accident in which Berton J. Weber was injured were out yesterday by Mr. Weber who was found at the home of his father, A. W. Weber, 5 Fair street, nicely recovering from injuries which [illegible] cuts on his right knee. The many friends of Mr. Weber will be glad to know that he was not injured seriously.

The accident happened late in the afternoon of July 4 on the Elk Creek road about a mile from Schenevus village. Mr. Weber was driving a Reo speed wagon toward Schenevus from a farm where he had been staying a few miles from that village. A car shot out from a blind cross road, and Mr. Weber drove his car into the fields to avoid a collision.

The car is not badly damaged and is being repaired at a Schenevus garage.

DEATH TERMINATES TRUST FUND

Estate of Edwin Cable to Be Divided Among Eight Heirs.

The recent death of Mrs. Mary A. Cable will dissolve the trust fund created by her husband, the late Edwin B. Cable, which will now be divided among the eight heirs named in Mr. Cable's will.

Mr. Cable died in 1909. In his will after specific bequests of about $25,000 he created a trust fund for the residue of his property, the net income from which was to be divided equally between the widow and a brother, Newell Cable, during their lives, the whole net income to go to the survivor during his or her life. The trust fund exceeds $100,000.

Upon the death of said wife and brother the estate then remaining was directed to be divided equally between eight nephews and nieces: Mrs. Mary Suttle and J. Chandler Cable of Downsville, Burton Cable and Warner Cable of Roscoe, Mrs. Bertha Williams of Beerston, Mrs. Nora Webster, Mrs. Florence Hood of Endicott and Miss Eva Holmes Cable of Walton. Mrs. Webster has since died, leaving three children who inherit their mother's share.—Walton Reporter.

GRAVES HELD AS WIFE SLAYER

Native of Cooperstown and Member of First Base Ball Team There, Now 90 Years Old, Accused.

Says a recent news dispatch from Cooperstown:

Word has been received of the arrest of Abner Graves, ninety, formerly of Cooperstown, for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Minnie L. Graves, forty-eight, at Denver, Colorado. Mrs. Graves was his second wife and had married him fifteen years ago. She was shot dead.

The shooting was the climax of a series of disagreements between the couple, whose ages differ by more than forty years, according to Graves' statement at the police station.

"One of us had to go," he is quoted as saying. "I had to do it."

Graves alleged that his wife had tried to kill him at various times by putting poison in his coffee at night before he retired.

Graves was born in Cooperstown in 1834. He was one of the boys who assisted Abner Doubleday at the laying out of the first baseball diamond in the United States on what is now Doubleday field. He was also a member of the team that played the first game.

It was mainly on the testimony of Graves that the authenticity of the claim by Cooperstown as being the "birthplace of baseball" was allowed.

Graves is one of the survivors of the original Forty-niners who made history in the first gold rush to the California fields. When he was fourteen years old he ran away from home and took passage on one of the sailing schooners bound around the Horn to the western coast. After the excitement of the first gold rush he became a pony express rider, before the days of transcontinental mail service, and is one of the oldest survivors of the pony express days. He was in the employ of the Wells Fargo and the Adams Express companies during his career and at one time was rated as the second best rider in the west. His daily trip with the mail consisted of forty-two miles each night through dangerous country.

Graves was forced to give up his active and adventurous career about twenty years ago as the result of an accident in which he was injured and he was forced to walk with the aid of crutches. It is said that this infirmity caused in part the breach that came between the married couple.

Graves and his wife had quarrelled the night of the shooting, according to roomers at the house where they lived, because Mrs. Graves refused to sign a deed to the home. Graves, it is said, had agreed to sell the property to a dealer earlier in the day.

Four shots entered the chest of Mrs. Graves from the revolver which Graves picked up. She was standing but a few feet from him when the shooting took place.

Her age was 89 years and while in advanced years she possessed unusual vitality for a woman of strenuous labor throughout her whole life. ### Shadows in Oil Do Not at Once Fade

Freak shadows that do not fade away at once when the objects that cast them are removed are described by S. Leonard Bastin in St. Nicholas (New York). We read:

"In the great oil regions of California, pools of crude petroleum are quite commonly seen. Here the oil is allowed to remain until it is stored away in barrels. One of the curiosities of the district is the freak shadow which these ponds of crude oil produce. If, when the sun is shining brightly, a person stands so that his shadow falls across the surface of the petroleum, a very remarkable thing happens. Should the individual change his place, strange to say, the first shadow remains on the oil, while the person casts a second shadow from his new position. The longer the individual has been standing by the oil pond, the longer will the original shadow remain. The explanation of the mystery is simple: Under the influence of the hot sun, gas is freely produced in the crude oil. This rises to the surface in the form of millions of bubbles far too minute to be noticed by the human eye. When a shadow is cast over the surface of the petroleum the temperature is reduced, and this has the effect of checking the production of bubbles. The result is that the shaded area looks different from the part which is exposed to the sun. Now, when the person moves, the temperature of the oil which has been shielded from the sun does not at once get back to its former warmth. It takes a little time to heat, and, until this actually happens, the shadow effect persists, giving the curious appearance which has been described.—Literary Digest.

Ten million men and women in the United States are members of fraternal organizations, according to statistics compiled by the research bureau of the Woodmen of the World and made public at Omaha, Neb.

Total insurance carried on the books of fraternal societies is $10,152,369,169, or a sum equal to $97 for every man, woman, and child in the United States. New members added during 1922 totaled 1,034,045, carrying insurance of $1,199,334,570.

The total insurance written in the United States last year, including policies issued by fraternal and old line companies, amounted to nine and a half billion dollars.

This sum is equal to all the money lent by the United States to the allies during the World war and is eight times greater than the total of deposits in all the savings banks in the country.

FALL OF NINEVEH FIXED AT 612 B. C.

Old Testament Account and Ancient Scribes Checked Up.

DISPARITY FOUND TO EXIST

A clay tablet interpreted by C. J. Gadd of the British museum, at the annual meeting of the British academy, shows that the famous fall of Nineveh after a siege by King Nabopolassar, leader of the Babylonian forces against the Assyrian capital, really took place in 612 B. C. and not, as the histories state, in 606.

The clay tablet, about six inches in length, is inscribed on both sides with a text in the minute cuneiform writing used by the Babylonians during the reigns of their own later kings and of the Persian Achaemenids who succeeded them by right of conquest. On the side the scribe has written: "Whoso loveth Nabu and Marduk, let him preserve this, and not suffer it to leave his hands." Since these two gods are particularly associated with Babylon, Mr. Gadd says, and since the text is concerned with the doings of a Babylonian king, it is almost certain that the tablet was written in Babylon itself, and was, doubtless, found upon the site of the ancient city.

On this tablet, in the space of 75 lines, are set down the chief events which occurred between the tenth and seventeenth years of Nabopolassar, the founder of the New Babylonian kingdom. But as this monarch reigned from B. C. 625 to 604, it follows that the years with which the chronicle deals are B. C. 616-609. Most fortunate of all, and indeed most unexpected, these years are found to include that of the destruction of Nineveh, which occurred in the fourteenth year—i. e., B. C. 612, some six years earlier than the date which has hitherto been inferred. In this connection the new record has an interesting contact with a passage of Old Testament history.

The Biblical Account.

In the reign of Josiah, king of Judah, "Pharaoh Necho, king of Egypt, went up against the king of Assyria to the River Euphrates, and King Josiah went against him; and he slew him at Megiddo, when he had seen him." (II Kings, 23:29.) The same event is recounted by the historian Josephus, who says: "Nechao, king of Egypt, gathered an army and advanced to the River Euphrates, to fight against the Medes and Babylonians, who had destroyed the Assyrian empire." Although this probably occurred in B. C. 608, one year after the chronicle breaks off, yet the course of events in the preceding years shows that Josephus is strictly correct; it was the Medes and Babylonians whom Nechao went to fight, since it had been the policy of Egypt to support the declining power of Assyria against these nations, who had, in fact, by the capture of Nineveh in 612, practically extinguished the Assyrian empire.

In view of this apparent discrepancy between the Old Testament and Josephus, where the latter is obviously right, it will remain for Biblical critics to decide whether the Hebrew text must necessarily be translated "against the king of Assyria." If not, then the apparent contradiction disappears.

But how, in any case, could there be a king of Assyria in 608 if Nineveh had been destroyed in 612? The answer to this question involves one of the most surprising results of the new chronicle, Mr. Gadd declares. At the fall of Nineveh a resolute band of the defenders, seeing that the city was lost, broke through the lines of the besiegers and marched westward to the provincial capital at Harran, which stood upon the River Balikh, a tributary of the Euphrates. In this city, always the seat of the Turtan, or commander-in-chief of the Assyrian army, a new king named Ashuruballit ascended the throne, and reigned until he was driven out in 610 by a mixed Scythian and Babylonian army. An attempt in the next year to regain the city with the help of Egyptian reinforcements proved unsuccessful.

Classical Writers Upheld.

The account given by the chronicle of the siege and fall of Nineveh is of great interest, not only in itself, but for comparison with the versions of classical writers. We are now informed that Cyaxares the Mede, who appears several times in the document, began his operations against the capital in the year 614. Unable at first to make any impression on his main objective, he yet carried the outlying cities of Tarbis and Ashur in this year, and concluded a formal alliance with the king of Babylon over the ruins of the latter. Classical sources add that a marriage was arranged between a son and daughter of the leaders.

In the following year some great disaster overtook the Medes, for, though the chronicle makes no mention of them whatsoever, the beleaguered king of Assyria is actually able to issue from Nineveh and raise the siege which Nabopolassar had laid against the town of Anah.

The nature of this disaster is known from Herodotus; the Medes were suddenly attacked before Nineveh by an onslaught of Scythians and routed by them. The same intervention appears also in Diodorus, who describes them as "Bactrians," and says that they were persuaded to join in the revolt against Sardanapalus. But in 612, according to the chronicle, all three nations, Medes, Babylonians and Scythians, unite against Nineveh, and at last the city falls and is totally destroyed.

The siege had thus lasted three years, from beginning to end, and this is conformable with the version of Diodorus, though quite incompatible with the 28 years of Scythian domination which Herodotus sets between the "first" and "second" attacks of Cyaxares [illegible] will accurately receive corroboration from this contemporary record, though a few circumstances prove to have been confused by tradition.

Odd Experience

While shopping in my home town, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Journal, I was suddenly caught in the arms of an old lady who cried, "Edna, Edna, why did you leave John? Come back to him. John, here's Edna," she screamed. John took me in his arms and tried to kiss me. I hid my face. The clerks had known me for years, and came to my rescue. They were hard to convince that I was not Edna, but after looking me over carefully they left with puzzled looks on their faces.

The Ideal State

Education and good morals will be found to be almost the whole that goes to make a good man, and the same things will make a good statesman and a good king. The truest definition of a complete citizen that can be given is probably this: That he shares in the judicial and executive part of the government. A state, consisting of a multitude of human beings, ought to be brought to unity and community by education.

Palm Sunday

The real reason for planting yew trees in churchyards is indicated in an excerpt from Liber Festivalis, printed by Caxton in 1483, which reads as follows: "But for reason that we have no olive that bears green leaf, we take yew instead of palm and olive and carry it in procession; and so is this day called Palm Sunday."

Beauty Aids

"Some girls proceed according to this system," remarked Hoffy. "If five bracelets will make you beautiful, ten bracelets will make you irresistible."

"The Congo belle carries that theory to its logical conclusion," interposed Cuthtbert. "Wears about sixty pounds of assorted junk."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Keeping Cloth Or Leather Upholstery In Good Condition

How to Clean it and Remove Spots and Stains

The length of time the upholstery in your car will remain in good condition depends largely on how careful you are to see that dust or grease is kept off it and what method you use to keep it clean.

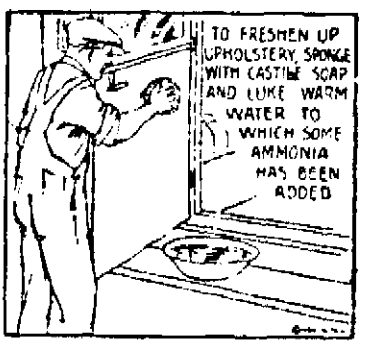
When you are doing any work around the car and have to wear overalls, keep off the upholstery. Sometimes adjustments have to be made that require floor boards to be taken up or perhaps you have made an adjustment which requires a road test after to see that it is all right. In either case, cover up the upholstery where you sit with a cloth.

When you take your car to a repair shop it is a good idea to caution the mechanic to be sure and cover the upholstery with a cloth when he has to work inside the car. All up-to-date service stations have cloth covers which they use to put over the upholstery to keep it clean.

COVER UPHOLSTERY WITH CLOTH WHEN SITTING IN CAR IN WORKING CLOTHES

At this time of the year the roads are dry and dusty and cloth upholstery gets very dirty. The women folks can tell you just HOW dirty it is after they come in from a run and have been wearing a clean, light-colored dress. If you are the possessor of a vacuum cleaner, you have available the very finest method of keeping the interior of your car clean. Most vacuum cleaners have several attachments of various shapes and sizes which enable you to get into all the corners and pleats and draw out all the dirt and dust.

If a vacuum cleaner is not available, then the cushions should be taken out every few weeks and beaten in the same manner as your household rugs and the backs of the cushions kept free from dust with a whisk broom.

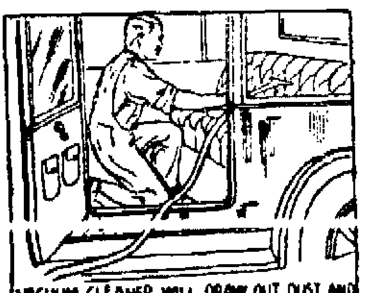


TO FRESHEN UP UPHOLSTERY, SPONGE WITH CASTILE SOAP AND LUKE WARM WATER TO WHICH SOME AMMONIA HAS BEEN ADDED

After a time, however, all upholstery begins to lose its fresh look. If it is not worn too badly, the lustre can be restored to the fabric by sponging with castile or ivory soap and luke warm water to which a little ammonia has been added. Do not, on any account, use an ordinary common soap or it will leave a mark. After sponging with soap and ammonia water, finish off with clean water, then allow the car to stand where there is a good draft of air so that the upholstery can be dried quickly.

Leather upholstery is cleaned in exactly the same way as cloth upholstery, except that it should be dried off with a clean chamois and rubbed up briskly with a dry cloth. It is rarely necessary to use a dressing of any kind on the leather.

If you have been unfortunate enough to get a few oily marks or stains on the upholstery, they can generally be removed with a brush and some ivory soap and luke warm water to which has been added a little ammonia. If this does not remove the stain, procure a little chloroform from the druggist and apply with a soft cloth. Do not on any account use gasoline. It may appear to take out the spot, but it will leave an oily patch behind it that collects dust and soon makes the cleaned spot look worse than it was before.



VACUUM CLEANER WILL DRAW OUT DUST AND HELP KEEP UPHOLSTERY IN GOOD CONDITION

While on the subject of spots, it frequently happens that you get a little tar or grease on the varnish. Do not attempt to remove with gasoline or a dry cloth. Dip a piece of cheese cloth or other soft material in water and squeeze out, then pour on a little olive oil and rub the spot with the tar or grease very gently in straight lines, taking care to keep as close to the spot as possible. Finish by lightly polishing with another piece of dry soft cloth.

Few owners keep a car that they have bought new, until it is worn out. Generally before its useful life is finished, it is sold or traded in. It is well to remember that the condition of the body finish and the upholstery are a big factor in determining the price you will get when you want to sell.

It is a good investment for the owner of a car with cloth upholstery to buy a set of seat cushions for use during the dusty summer months. The covers will not only keep the upholstery in good condition but are much cooler to sit on. When the cool weather comes they can be removed if necessary. In this way when the time comes to sell your car, you have upholstery in good condition and have a car for which you can get a higher trade in allowance or sell for a good price as a used car.

RAILROAD SHARES TAKE LEADERSHIP

Supercede Industrials in Upward Movement, Now in Fifth Consecutive Week

Brief Stock Review.

Total stock sales, 666,300 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 96.08; previous day, 95.85.

High, 1924, 101.24; low, 90.27.

Twenty railroads averaged 87.43; previous day 86.94.

High, 1924, 87.43; low, 81.

Brief Bond Review.

Total bond sales, par value, $10,854,000.

Ten first grade rails averaged 89.32; previous day, 89.40.

Ten secondary rails averaged 87.28; previous day, 87.28.

Ten public utilities averaged 90.45; previous day, 90.16.

Ten industrials averaged 94.61; previous day 94.71.

Combined average 90.42; previous day, 90.31.

Combined average month ago, 89.03; year ago, 86.65.

New York, July 7. — Railroad shares today superceded the industrials as leaders of the upward movement in the stock market, which is now in its fifth consecutive week. Trading slowed down somewhat because of political uncertainties, but the recent increase in public interest revived pool activities, particularly in a number of specialties in which favorable developments are pending.

Big Four was the individual feature of the railroad group, soaring 10 points to 180 in reflection of the publication of a report showing 1923 earnings at the rate of $23.65 a share, against $14.05 the previous year. Another influence in the buying of this stock was the prospect of its early consolidation by New York Central, which already owns 91 per cent of the common and 64 per cent of the preferred.

In all, 11 rails established new peak prices for the year, including Nickle Plate, Southern Railway, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Chicago & North Western, Seaboard Air Line common and preferred, the net gains in these issues ranging from small fractions to two and one-half points.

Public utilities also developed exceptional strength with American Waterworks common touching another record high at 38½, while new peak prices also were established by the common and preferred stocks of its subsidary West Penn Power. Public Service of New Jersey and General Electric also touched new highs.

United States Steel common was heavy in anticipation of another unfavorable tonnage report on Thursday, closing at par for a net loss of half a point. Other industrial leaders also were a bit sluggish. Oils held relatively firm in the face of cuts in Pennsylvania and Central Western crude prices.

Selling of Brazilian bonds, inspired by news of the revolution in Sao Paulo, was the most conspicuous development of today's bond market, in which prices generally held steady in quiet trading.

The main price tendency of domestic issues was upward, although fluctuations for the most part were narrow. Southern Pacific, Katy, Seaboard and Norfolk & Western liens were the outstanding strong spots in the railroad group.

Saves Life for Every Feather

"Mary Jane" is one of Uncle Sam's little known heroes. An employe of the U. S. Bureau of Mines this canary has saved a life for every feather in her little body. She has been sent out on any number of mine disaster rescue jobs. When the bird begins to droop the rescuers know they are running into gas and are able to protect themselves. Just how many times "Mary Jane" has been brought out unconscious there is no record of.

AGRIGRAPHS

Rats are enemies of the harvest—let the youngsters and the dogs loose upon them.

Uncle Ab says that many a time it's better to do a thing than to be an expert on how it ought to be done.

There's more milk in the pails and less purchased feed on the farms which are planned with more legume seed.

City and village markets offer a good opportunity to producers of perishables to sell at a profit and yet at a price the consumer is willing to pay.

Milk is on the average about 87 per cent water, and cows giving milk need to drink about four times as much as dry cows drink. See that they have plenty that is clean and fresh.

It's possible to increase the potato crop by spraying. Bordeau mixture with lead arsenate added will prevent late blight and get the potato bug also. Spray oftener if the season is cool and wet, than during dry weather.

"Forests do not improve by disuse any more than a man's muscles grow stronger in idleness." The farm woodlot is a small forest and will repay the owner who takes care of it. Get Bulletin F-159 from the State college at Ithaca.

Modern Carpet of Bagdad

Here is the brief picture story of the first transcontinental airmail flight, that latest chapter in the many romances of the air now being written. Messages now cross the nation in 36 hours, or thereabouts. Mail posted in New York at 8 a. m. will be delivered in San Francisco the following evening. On the left is shown Pilot Claire Vance taking off from San Francisco, bringing in his mail pouch this picture of himself taken and developed on the field just before he started. At Cleveland the pilots were changed and Pilot Wesley L. Smith is shown (center) winging his way to New York and at right being greeted by his wife at the end of the history-making flight.

NATIONAL ELKS CONVENTION

Grand Exalted Ruler J. G. McFarland Speaking in Response to Welcome Points with Pride to Past Achievements.

(By the Associated Press)

Boston, July 7. — Responding to addresses welcoming the annual reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks here tonight, Grand Exalted Ruler James G. McFarland said the order was filled with great pride because of its past achievements and proud that "we have already given enduring pledge of that loyalty and devotion which the Elks have shown to their government and to the ideals upon which it is founded."

Recounting the activities and unselfish purposes of the order, Mr. McFarland said membership in the Elks means "association in the greatest American order, whose destiny is unalterably linked with the destiny of our country."

"The colonies united in a national spirit and with an unselfish national purpose," the speaker continued. "The framers of the constitution of the United States came together with local ideas in mind, but they were submerged in the greater, broader vision and in the ideas of a nation. So today, Elkdom teaches and practices its great lessons for the national benefit—for all mankind."

The grand exalted ruler recalled that when Boston welcomed the Elks seven years ago the order represented some 470,000 members. "And now," he said, "we return representing almost a million in numbers, but more important than this—our activities have been far-flung and extended."

After reviewing the activities of the order, Mr. McFarland concluded: "Each man has his part to play in the great drama of life. Each citizen must give of his strength in support of the right and of our flag, and each Elk must build within himself for the future power and glory of our order."

Painful Indeed.

Painful indeed must be the reflections of the bitter enders when they recall that it was not until the fourth day of the convention that the League of Nations was mentioned. Then came the letdown in the form of a "great and solemn referendum." Once before the proposal got similar treatment and was swamped.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

THEY SELDOM DIE

Three Residents of Philippines Died With Ages Totaling 392 Years—Fish, Vegetables, and Fruit Thought Responsible.

(By the Associated Press)

Manila, July 7. — The town of Taytay, situated only a few miles from Manila in the province of Rizal, claims the record for longevity in the Philippine Islands. From October, 1923, to the end of April, 1924, six persons who had passed the century mark died there, according to the record kept by Father Dumandan.

One woman, Benita Gonzaga, according to the record was 140 years old when she died. Others who had lived far beyond the century mark were Tomasa Vivencio, 123 years, and Maria Roxas, 129 years.

Father Dumandan says he believes that the simple diet of fish, vegetables and fruit which compose the chief foods of these people, adds greatly to their long lives.

DODGE BROTHERS POLICY EFFECTS SUBSTANTIAL SAVING

LOCAL DEALERS SAY PUBLIC APPRECIATES SIGNIFICANCE OF POLICY.

Continue Buying Without Fear of Sudden Depreciation Through Obsolescence.

It is quite evident from the comments of buyers, according to R. A. Traver, manager of the Traver-Mackey company, Inc., Dodge Brothers dealers, that the public appreciates the significance of Dodge Brothers policy of making constant improvements in their motor cars instead of changing models every year.

Magazines, newspapers and bulletin boards everywhere are reminding the people this month that this policy continues to prevail and that they may buy Dodge Brothers cars without fear of seeing a new and entirely different model put on the market soon after they take possession of the present type car.

"Coming just at this time," said Mr. Traver, "when many manufacturers are preparing to issue new models, in keeping with their annual custom, this advertisement is having a striking effect. It serves as a wholesome reassurance to prospective buyers. They dislike the idea of buying a car today and finding a month or so later that it is an obsolete model. And it is only natural that they should. The depreciation loss is out of proportion for a few months' use. Moreover, most people like to be up-to-date in their motor equipment and if they wish to follow their desire in this respect they must accept this sharp depreciation loss.

Dodge Brothers Motor Car owners who buy new cars every year—and there are many of them—have a big advantage here. A one-year-old Dodge Brothers car is modern in appearance and mechanical design. That fact is conceded by everyone. Equally important to its resale value, however, is the fact that it is substantially the same car that Dodge Brothers will manufacture a year later. In other words, there is no danger that this one-year-old car will suffer an undue depreciation loss simply because an entirely different model is about to make its appearance. We charge off only for the normal rate of depreciation for one year. And the used car buyer in turn appreciates the fact that the price represents full value and that he can buy the car with full assurance of many years of satisfactory service.

"Another factor enters into this policy which is also of considerable importance to buyers. A change in models involves a complete change of dies and production schedules. It upsets a factory completely and often means a virtual stoppage of production. This naturally means a loss to the manufacturer and his only recourse is to get it back in the price of his product. The saving effected by Dodge Brothers, through their policy of constant, gradual refinement instead of radical annual changes of models, is faithfully returned to the buyer in the form of surplus value. Every dollar saved, of course, enables the factory to give that much more for the money.

"The practice of bringing out new models every year is also responsible for a slow-up of sales during the summer months. People hold off, waiting to see what the new models are like. The fact that Dodge Brothers sales are continuing at the normal volume is another indication of the confidence engendered by the practice of not issuing annual models. Many buyers have said to us, 'Dodge Brothers cars couldn't be finer than they are today, either in appearance or riding comfort. I am not afraid of a change. There is certainly no occasion for it.'

Also, although most owners do not realize it, the cost of replacement parts is greatly affected by bringing out yearly models. One reason for the extremely low price for Dodge Brothers parts is the fact that parts stay standard for years."

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR.

Reunion of 121st New York Volunteer Association at Jordanville.

The 45th annual reunion of the 121st New York Volunteer association will be held at Jordanville tomorrow, Wednesday, July 9, with two sessions, the first, a business meeting at 11 a. m. Standard time, and the other a camp fire at 2 p. m., both in the Methodist Episcopal church of that village. Dinner will be served at 12:30 in the memorial library.

Henry W. Cadwell of Jordanville is president of the association and has left nothing undone that this may be one of the best reunions ever held by the survivors of this faithful, fighting regiment of the Civil war. Their numbers have become greatly depleted, but they hope to round out their 50 years of active service as an association.

C. J. Westcott and Leonard Ward of Oneonta are amongst the survivors who expect to attend.

Several from other regiments will be present, and many relatives of deceased comrades are expected. All friends and well-wishers will be very welcome.

The original regiment was mustered in with over 1,000 men. Death, wounds and disease greatly depleted the number and other men filled its ranks, so that the regiment altogether numbered about 1,800 men. Of these about 100 are now living, and now number 45 men in the regiment who mustered in.

GOITER DUE TO SNOW WATER

In Examination of School Children, 300 of 600 Found to Have Goiter.

(By the Associated Press.)

Winnipeg, Man., July 7. — Examination of 600 school children here resulted in the pronouncement that prevalence of goiter among them was caused by snow water in Shoal lake, a body 50 square miles in area, situated 40 miles to the northeast, from which the municipal supply is drawn.

Dr. Duncan McRae said iodin would have to be introduced into the water. Three hundred children between the ages of 12 and 14 were found to have goiter.
